News from the Duck Pond
Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at UH Manoa

Carole's Corner
It's July and we are halfway through the summer term! As a dozen new classes start and the world seems to be crumbling around us, we are energized by several productive brainstorming sessions on how to grow our OLLI and promote member engagement and sustainability. Thanks to all who have contributed your time, energy and thoughtful ideas! One event was held in person at Krauss Hall, requiring snacks. On the way to Costco, Teagan and I lucked into NO LINE at the Asato Family Shop where the limited edition seasonal flavors were still available! The Lychee sorbet tastes exactly like biting into one fresh lychee:).

Georgia may have summer peaches, but Hawaii has lychee, Lilikoi and an insane bumper crop of mangos. Keep a napkin handy for juice dribbling down your chin:)
COMING UP NEXT WEEK!!

Flyer available here. Please email Ninia to register for the class.

Teagan's Thoughts

We always try to send out the newsletter on the first of the month every month, we really do, but alas, other OLLI tasks take precedence. Life and the mile long to-do list just get in the way, as the newsletter slides down to the lowest priority like a raindrop falling down window on a rainy day. Not to mention the increasingly jarring state of the world, mercurial and yet, oxymoronically constant in how upsetting the news continues to be. But we keep trudging forward because we have to. What other choice is there but to survive with the hope that we can one day thrive? It's an idea that applies to OLLI too as our staff members work diligently to keep it running but we need help, even if asking for it does not come easily. We had a successful start to our volunteer efforts the week before last, as conversation and ideas abounded. We're grateful to have quite a few capable and willing participants to help our staff from going insane. The work is only just beginning as we continue building a dynamic and diverse team of volunteers to ensure OLLI's success for the future! If you'd like to get involved, please email me at olliuhm@hawaii.edu. What kind of contributor are YOU? -Your friendly OLLI Grad Assistant, Teagan
